The Sister City Story

The Sister City concept started in 1956, after the end of the Second World War and during the Eisenhower presidential administration. A worldwide network of sister city relations was established to help rebuild nation-to-nation relationships and foster global harmony. Efforts were made to create “citizen diplomats” by opening communication between peoples of the world. Out of this effort came the Sister Cities International organization.

On December 10, 1962, the City Council established the Culver City Sister City Committee (CCSCC) for the cultural betterment of the City and its people.

The Culver City Sister City Committee acts to facilitate and maintain relationships between Culver City and our foreign sister cities. Our goal is to develop and maintain long-term community based programs that foster international and intercultural understanding. This is achieved through cultural, educational and commercial exchanges of people, ideas and materials both within and between the Culver City community and our sister cities. In addition, our Youth Program enables students to experience life in different countries, learn diverse customs and traditions, all while building leadership skills and lifelong relationships.

Committee Activities

In bringing the world to Culver City, the Culver City Sister City Committee engages our citizens in a number of creative and charitable activities that benefit both the sister city and our Culver City community:

- Home stays - culture, music & sports exchanges for adults as well as middle and high school students
- Cultural art and music exchanges
- Student art competitions
- Scholarship contributions
- Civic awareness development
- Donations to select orphanages

OUR SISTER CITIES

CANADA— Lethbridge (1989) A city located on the Oldman River near the Rocky Mountains in Southern Alberta. It is in an area rich with the history of the Blackfoot Indians, explorers, trappers, farmers, Mounties, mining and immigration from Europe and Asia. Incorporated in 1882, it remains a land of open spaces and blue skies while continuing to be the distribution, marketing and service center for much of Southern Alberta. It boasts the longest and highest trussed bridge in the world, fine art galleries, historic sites and the University of Lethbridge.

JAPAN— Kaizuka (1965) Located 25 miles south of Osaka, it balances both farming of special vegetables (butterburs/mizunasu egg-plant), textile and wire cable manufacturing. Established in 1889, the city is currently known for their volleyball teams, annual marathons, bonsai junipers, historic wooden kokeshi dolls and architectural achievements.

A commercial port and industrial center, Kaizuka is near Megafloat, the world’s largest floating airport.

SOUTH KOREA— Iksan City (1983) Situated in the Jeonlabug-Do Province, in the East Central part of South Korea, it has the distinction of dating its history to 500 AD. Today it is a modern industrial city and home to numerous factories producing textiles, gems, jewelry, metal, electrical products and machinery. It is also home to many agricultural, fishing, construction and transportation industries.

The surrounding countryside is lush with farms having rice as the prevalent crop. Iksan City is the core of the southwestern part of South Korea. It has abundant cultural assets as an ancient capital of Mahan State and the Baekje Kingdom.

MEXICO— Uruapan (1964) Founded in 1533 by the same order of Franciscan Fathers that later founded the California missions, Uruapan was Culver City’s first sister city. A mile above sea level, this “city on the plains” is surrounded by pines but is still semitropical. Loosely translated, “Uruapan” means “where the flowers grow”. It is the cultural and spiritual center of the Tarascan Indians. It is known for its active volcano, avocados, lacquer-work, pottery, woodwork, embroidery and waterfall-filled national park.

Culver City is known as “the Heart of Screenland,” having housed many studios over the years including MGM Studios and currently Sony Pictures Entertainment and Culver Studios. Movies such as Gone with the Wind, King Kong and the famous Wizard of Oz were filmed here. The historic Culver Hotel was home to the Munchkins during the filming of that classic movie and is a city landmark.

Today, Culver City is known for its excellent schools, newly revitalized downtown with upscale restaurants, theaters, and numerous art galleries throughout the east Washington corridor. A five-member elected City Council governs the city and a five-member Board of Education governs the public schools.
